Profiting From Peace Managing The Resource Dimensions Of Civil War:

Profiting from Peace Karen Ballentine, Heiko Nitzschke, 2005 Providing both a means and a motive for armed conflict the continued access of combatants in contemporary civil wars to lucrative natural resources has often served to counter the incentives for peace Toward Profiting from Peace offers the first comprehensive assessment of the practical strategies and tools that might be used effectively by both international and state actors to help reduce the illicit exploitation of natural resources and the related financial flows that sustain the violence

The Political Economy of Civil War and UN Peace Operations Mats Berdal, Jake Sherman, 2023-03-31 This book examines the operational and political challenges facing UN peace operations deployed in countries where civil war and protracted violence have given rise to the complex and distinctive political economies of conflict The volume explores the nature and impact of such political economies informal systems of power and influence formed by the interaction of local national and region wide war economies with the political agendas of conflict actors on the course of UN peace operations It focuses in detail on the UN's long running peace operations in the Democratic Republic of Congo South Sudan Afghanistan Sierra Leone Mali and Somalia The book is centrally concerned with the interaction of UN missions with the power structures and local conflict dynamics that shape individual mission settings and the challenges these pose for mediation protection of civilians and other tasks It also offers a critical assessment of the various ways in which the UN system from its headquarters in New York to the field has confronted the policy challenges posed by political economies of conflict affected states societies and regions It advances a pragmatic set of policy recommendations aimed at improving the UN's ability to confront predatory and exploitative war economies At the same time the volume makes it clear that political and institutional obstacles to more effective UN action are certain to remain profound and are unlikely ever to be fully overcome let alone eradicated Despite making some progress since the 1990s to better understand the political economy of civil wars the UN has struggled with how to tackle informal networks of power and their consequences for efforts to end wars The book will be of special interest to students of war and conflict studies statebuilding political economy of conflict UN interventionism and peacebuilding and IR Security in general

Trade, Aid and Security Oli Brown, 2012-04-27 A compelling contribution to our evolving understanding of the links between trade aid and security and what the international community needs to do to ensure peace and development in the world Achim Steiner Executive Director United Nations Environment Programme For far too long the international community has stood by while countries around the world descend into conflict and anarchy We need to understand how we can engage more effectively with fragile and failing states Trade Aid and Security is an important step in this direction Jan Pronk Special Representative of the UN General Secretary in Sudan and Former Minister of Development and the Environment The Netherlands As we begin to contemplate what the post Iraq world will look like it is vital that we reflect on the limits of the utility of hard power and the importance that development can play in avoiding failed states before they fail preventing conflicts and more successfully re building states This timely book makes a most important contribution to that process Lord Paddy Ashdown UN High Representative for Bosnia and Herzegovina 2002 2006 Leader of UK Liberal Democrat Party 1988 1999 As UN Special Representative to the Great Lakes Region of Africa I have seen the devastating impact of the trade in conflict resources with my own eyes Amongst much else this book shows how different trade and aid politics can tackle the trade in conflict resources and make a real contribution to secure societies It is essential reading Mohamed Sahnoun Special Representative of the UN Secretary General in Central and East Africa Iraq Afghanistan Darfur All resonate loudly on the international stage exposing and illustrating the intractable links between global security control over natural resources be it oil water timber or conflict diamonds and the manipulation of foreign aid and international trade policy This volume written by leading authorities from across the globe introduces the linkages between trade aid and security and exposes how inappropriate or misused trade and aid policy can and do undermine security and contribute to violence and the disintegration of national states On a practical level they demonstrate how six key areas of trade and aid policy can be used to help forge stability and security reduce the likelihood of armed conflict and assist economic and political recovery in our war torn world

Building a peace economy? Jenny H. Peterson, 2015-11-01 This book critically examines the range of policies and programmes that attempt to manage economic activity that contributes to political violence It offers a new framework for understanding both the problem of economic activity in conflict zones as well as programmes aimed at managing these and transforming them into more peaceful economic and political relationships Through this examination both the problems of liberal modes of peacebuilding implemented by the development security industry and opportunities for policy innovation are explored Useful charts and frameworks throughout the book provide the reader with a range of analytical tools that can be easily used to explore war economies and related policies in a range of contexts making this book an essential read for students policy makers and aid practitioners working in a range of disciplines and conflict affected areas An electronic edition of this book is freely available under a Creative Commons CC BY NC ND licence

An Ethnographic Approach to Peacebuilding Gearoid Millar, 2014-04-24 This book aims to outline and promote an ethnographic approach to evaluating international peacebuilding interventions in transitional states While the evaluation of peacebuilding and transitional justice efforts has been a growing concern in recent years too often evaluations assess projects based on locally irrelevant measures reinforce the status quo distribution of power in transitional situations and uncritically accept the implicit conceptions of the funders planners and administrators of such projects This book argues that evaluating the effects of peacebuilding interventions demands an understanding of the local and culturally variable context of intervention Throughout the book the author draws on real world examples from extensive fieldwork in Sierra Leone to argue that local experiences should be considered the primary measure of a peacebuilding project s success An ethnographic approach recognizes diversity in conceptions of peace justice development and reconciliation and takes local approaches and local critiques of the international agenda seriously It can help to empower local actors hold the international peacebuilding industry accountable to its supposed beneficiaries and challenge the Western centric ideas of what peace entails and how peacebuilding is achieved This book will be of much interest to students and scholars of peacebuilding peace and conflict studies transitional justice African politics ethnography International Relations and security studies as well as practitioners working in the field

The Political Economy of Peacemaking Achim Wennmann,2010-12-14 This book focuses on the economic dimensions of peace processes and examines the opportunities and constraints for assisting negotiated exits out of conflict Various works have addressed the economic characteristics and consequences of armed conflicts over the past two decades including issues such as blood diamonds natural resource wars economically motivated armed violence self financing conflict or the complicity of companies and state elites in conflict economies However rather than treating these issues as obstacles for peace this book explores whether they can be opportunities for peacemaking by adopting a political economy perspective The book looks at income sharing from natural resources as an opportunity for forward looking peacemaking strategies and the implications of deal making in situations in which war economies and insecurity provide strongmen with disproportionate political and economic power The book also highlights that peace processes are not necessarily about the rectification of a conflict s root causes but rather about what matters most to the main stakeholders at the moment when a peace process starts taking shape Finally efforts to establish a lasting peace need to go beyond the traditional set of actors associated with peace processes The strategic involvement of donor agencies companies and diaspora communities can strengthen forward looking peace processes The book will help both student and practitioner audiences to better understand armed conflicts and their belligerents optimize the planning and management of peace initiatives and shape expectations in peace agreements It will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding conflict studies development studies International Political Economy and International Relations in general

Reconstructing Economic Governance After Conflict in Resource-rich African Countries Karl Wohlmuth,Tino Urban,2007 This book is a collection of Policy Briefs on the issue of reconstructing economic governance in resource rich African countries This is the first book that covers this particular issue Many researches have been undertaken on the causes of conflict and violence in resource rich African countries but the particular point in this book is how to manage the economic affairs in these countries for the benefit of the people and on a long term and sustainable basis The term good economic governance is used for this type of management and we have applied the concept to a number of African countries that are richly endowed with natural resources and have suffered from various forms and intensities of conflict

Journal of Peace Research ,2010-05

Peace as Governance C. Sriram,2008-04-17 These negotiation incentives can involve inclusion of previously excluded or outlawed groups as legitimate political parties sharing of resources with such groups inclusion of former combatants in reformed military or police forces and offers of partial or complete autonomy This approach is largely used to bring non state armed groups into negotiations rather than as leverage on governments themselves The book drawing upon studies in Sri Lanka Sudan and Colombia demonstrates the limitations and even dangers of using such strategies BOOK JACKET Nnamdi Azikiwe Journal of Political Science ,2012 A United Nations for the 21st Century: from Reaction to Prevention Detlev Wolter,2007 This book analyzes the achievements of the UN World Summit of September 2005 in the field of conflict prevention human security and the advancement of the security development nexus The book examines the Summit Outcome Document which contains important general endorsements of the objective to strengthen conflict prevention capacities at the UN and fully supports the mission of the Special Advisor of the Secretary General on the Prevention of Genocide This document commits all Member States for the first time to develop a notion of human security that recognizes that all individuals in particular vulnerable people are entitled to freedom from fear and freedom from want It embraces the concept of a responsibility to protect against genocide ethnic cleansing and crimes against humanity The book looks at how the newly established Peacebuilding Commission can play an important overall preventive role in particular by ensuring that post conflict countries do not relapse into armed conflict It suggests the upcoming Comprehensive Report on Conflict Prevention by the UN Secretary General and a new General Assembly Resolution should operationalize and implement the shift from reaction to prevention The United Nations for the 21st Century supports the call for a special summit meeting in 2010 on conflict prevention and human security with the objective to adopt a Global Action Plan on Conflict Prevention and Human Security which should specify concrete agreements for allocating the resources necessary to bring peace planning conflict prevention and peacebuilding strategies to fruition

Statebuilding and Intervention David Chandler, 2009 This edited book sets out and engages with some of the key policies practices and paradigms of external intervention in the case of state support and reconstruction Many assumptions about statebuilding have been reconsidered in the wake of Iraq and ongoing problems in other states such as Afghanistan Bosnia and Kosovo Rather than being a regional survey or a policy orientated lessons learned book this collection explores the broader framing of policy goals statebuilding practices and the consensus on the need for Western states and international institutions to be engaged in this policy area The volume is divided into three parts the first engages with some of the key policy frameworks and conceptual issues raised by recent statebuilding interventions the second considers core statebuilding practices and the third reconsiders statebuilding paradigms more broadly The essays open up debate and critical discussion in the field at a time when many advocates of extending statebuilding intervention suggest that the complex nature of the problems of non Western states and societies mean that it will inevitably be contradictory and limited in its results
