

Introduction

The Progress Books include photocopiable end-of-unit progress tests, which are designed to assist teachers with medium-term 'formative' assessment.

Each test is designed to be used within the classroom at the end of a Collins International Primary Science unit to help measure the progress of learners and identify strengths and weaknesses.

Analysis of the results of the tests helps teachers provide feedback to individual learners on their specific strengths and areas that require improvement, as well as analyse the strengths and weaknesses of the class as a whole.

Self-assessment is also an important feature of the Progress Books as feedback should not only come from the teacher. The Progress Books provide opportunities at the end of each test for learners to self-assess their understanding of the unit, as well as space for teacher feedback.

Structure of the Progress Books

In Stage 2 there are six topics, made up of units within them. There is one progress test for each unit. Each test consists of two pages of questions aimed at assessing the learning objectives from the Cambridge Primary Science Curriculum Framework for the relevant unit.

All of the questions are suitable for the majority of learners and assess the unit's learning objectives.

Pages 7 to 15 include a list of photocopiable I can statements for each unit, which are aimed at providing an opportunity for learners to undertake some form of self-assessment. The intention is that once learners have answered the two pages of questions, they turn to the I can statements for the relevant unit and think about each statement, and how easy or hard they find the topic. For each statement, they colour in the face that is closest to how they feel:

☺ I can do this

☹ I'm getting there

☹ I need some help.

A photocopiable Summative assessment is provided for use at the end of each block of topics (after Topics 2, 4 and 6).

Administering each test

Recommended timing: 20 to 30 minutes, although this can be altered to suit the needs of individual learners and classes.

Use the box at the bottom of each progress test to do one of the following:

- sign or initial your name to indicate you have marked the test
- draw a simple picture or diagram, such as one of the three faces (☺, ☹, ☹) – to indicate your judgement on the learner's level of understanding of the unit's learning objectives
- write a brief comment such as 'Well done!', 'You've got it', 'Getting there' or 'See me'.

Provide feedback to individual learners, as necessary, on their strengths and any areas that require improvement.
