

Question 10 (1 point)
Level: Easy
Grade: 10

Name: _____
Date: _____

Question 10: Why do some people have a hard time understanding the concept of a function?

- 1) Many people struggle to understand the concept of a function because they think of it as a simple relationship between two variables, like a line on a graph. However, a function is a more complex relationship that can involve multiple variables and operations.
- 2) Another reason why some people have a hard time understanding the concept of a function is that they often think of it as a single point on a graph, rather than a continuous relationship between two variables. This can lead to confusion when they see a graph with multiple points or a curve.

Question 11: How do you know if a relationship is a function? What are some ways to check?

- 1) One way to check if a relationship is a function is to look at the graph. If the graph passes the vertical line test, then it is a function. The vertical line test means that if you draw a vertical line through the graph, it should only intersect the graph at one point. If it intersects at more than one point, then it is not a function.

Question 12: How do you know if a relationship is not a function? What are some ways to check?

- 1) One way to check if a relationship is not a function is to look at the graph. If the graph fails the vertical line test, then it is not a function. This means that if you draw a vertical line through the graph, it intersects the graph at more than one point.

Question 13: How do you know if a relationship is a function? What are some ways to check?

- 1) Another way to check if a relationship is a function is to look at the equation. If the equation is in the form  $y = mx + b$ , then it is a function. This is because for every value of  $x$ , there is only one value of  $y$ .

Question 14: How do you know if a relationship is not a function? What are some ways to check?

- 1) One way to check if a relationship is not a function is to look at the equation. If the equation is in the form  $x = my + b$ , then it is not a function. This is because for every value of  $y$ , there are multiple values of  $x$ .

Question 15: How do you know if a relationship is a function? What are some ways to check?

- 1) Another way to check if a relationship is a function is to look at the graph. If the graph passes the vertical line test, then it is a function. This means that if you draw a vertical line through the graph, it only intersects the graph at one point.
