

PHILOSOPHY

- came from two Greek words: philos (love) and sophia (wisdom). Philosophy is define as the "love of wisdom".
- According to several accounts and testimonies, the discovery of philosophy may be attributed to Phytagoras of Samos, who first use the term "philosopher".

There is a big difference between being a lover of wisdom and a mere receiver of knowledge. For philosophers, they aim to be wise in almost all aspects of human discipline, inquiring and investigating all forms of human phenomena. They seek to answer the questions of the world, not because they are forced to do so, but because they are passionate in their quest for wisdom. This is the reason why philosophers are known to be entities or beings of wisdom, for their teachings helped shed light to the many questions of humankind, they become the bases of the people's judgments and decisions.

There are three general statements that attempt to explain what philosophy is all about.

1. Philosophy integrates itself with other disciplines to achieve a comprehensive and coherent world view.

Philosophy as a discipline is encompassing. It never confines itself to a portion of human experience or to a certain aspect of human phenomenon. Philosophy enables a person to understand the various intricacies of all disciplines and paves the way for his/ her understanding of reality.

2. Philosophy analyzes the very foundations of other disciplines.

Philosophy concerns itself with the roots of disciplines such as art, science, and even religion. It explores and examines all their underpinnings.

3. Philosophy analyzes and criticizes treasured beliefs and traditions.

Philosophy is always on the lookout in putting things
