

Writing Learning Objectives

Questions to Ask Yourself

- What do you want participants to be able to do back at their institutions as a direct result of attending this session (workshop, course, seminar, etc.)?
- What does our audience need to know or be able to do to bridge the gap between where they are today and where we want them to be tomorrow?
- If participants could learn only three things in this session, what would those three things be? What would be your three take-home messages?

Steps for Writing an Objective

1. Write each objective beginning with the phrase "After participating in this session, attendees should be able to"
2. Choose a verb that matches the desired level of knowledge or skill (see information on Bloom's Taxonomy below).
 - Verbs should indicate specific, measurable, and observable behaviors.
3. Review each objective to make sure it is an outcome.
 - Double check that you have not created a list of learning activity descriptions or agenda items (for example, "The participants should complete a simulation on how to perform the XYZ procedure").
 - Your objectives should describe what participants should be able to know or do as a result of a learning experience.
4. Examples:
 - Poorly defined learning objective: After participating in this session, attendees should be able to explain change management.
 - Well-defined learning objective: After participating in the session, attendees should be able to describe the three essential elements of change management.

Bloom's Taxonomy

Bloom's Taxonomy, created by Benjamin Bloom, is a hierarchical classification of the different levels of thinking
