

NCRC Instructor Guide

Compiled by John Punches, National Coordinator
May 2007

This guide summarizes the key tenets of NCRC methods. It is not intended to represent our entire curriculum, but rather those central elements upon which the curriculum is constructed and those points most commonly misstated. It emphasizes methods considered by the NCRC Board of Regional Coordinators and Education Committee to be critical to safe and effective teaching of American cave rescue techniques. It summarizes the ever-elusive "NCRC Way."

There are many ways to conduct cave rescue. Some work better than others. All are situational. Caves present unique challenges that prevent any single protocol from having universal application. Your job as an NCRC instructor is to ensure your students have learned the methods described in the NCRC curriculum. That accomplished, you are permitted (even encouraged) to teach other methods provided they are safe and effective. Remember that what may be safe and effective for an experienced, competent cave rescue technician may be unsafe and ineffective with your particular group of students. Also remember that students will get checked off on NCRC methods – so don't overload them with options that will confuse them at check-off time.

Although the main focus of this book is on the estuaries its scope goes well beyond this particular coastal feature. Indeed the estuary can only be considered as part of the life cycle of the entire river and the marine area it feeds into an area particularly subject to human and natural pressures. The main estuaries and deltas of West and Central Africa region provide a variety of goods and services to its coastal population. The most important of them are related to critical fish habitat wood and charcoal from mangroves as well as space for agriculture aquaculture urban development tourism and transport. Particular emphasis has been made in this book on mangroves that play a significant role in terms of flood control groundwater replenishment coastline stabilization and protection against storms. They also retain sediments and nutrients purify water and provide critical carbon storage. Such hydrological and ecological functions explain the focus on serving mangrove ecosystems and the nearby communities which draw significant income from fishing rice production tourism salt extraction and other activities such as harvesting honey and medicinal plants hence the need for preserving mangrove ecosystems to ensure sustainability of the estuaries and deltas of West and Central Africa region. The book has a foreword by Mr Achim Steiner United Nations Under Secretary General and Executive Director of UNEP who is stating that credible and up to date information is essential for the public at large but more specifically for scientists researchers managers decision makers all working together in order to safeguard protect and sustainably manage estuaries deltas and lagoons and the coastal and ocean waters of Western and Central Africa.
