

Grinding Disk Maintenance

To avoid injuries and accidents, only grinding disks free of defects should be used.

Check the disk you are about to fit for any damages prior to assembly.

This can be done by a simple sound test: Hold the disk so that a pencil can be put into the hole of the disk and the disk can swing freely (see image).

- Now tap the edge of the disk with another pencil carefully. The disk should make a clear, high pitched sound!
- If the sound is dull, then the disk is defective and should not be used. A dull sound indicates damage by cracks.
- Do not fit the disk onto the hub by force.
- The central bore diameter should never be changed.
- Use only disks supplied by Kogan.com.
- The grinding disks should not be used if they have a diameter smaller than 100mm. Disks that have been grinded below this diameter should be replaced.
- Any adjusting works to the disk should not be done unless the unit is switched off AND unplugged from the power supply.

Grinding Disk Assembly

After you have removed the ancillary flange, you can insert the grinding disk into the body from below. See that the ancillary flange and the disk are against each other (see Fig. 7).

Do not over-tighten the screws, as this can damage the disk.

The grinding disk on the hug torque is 7Nm. Where practical, use a torque spanner. Now the lateral guard can be fitted (see Fig. 8).

Check for the correct installation of the disk: there should be no wobbling. To check, a trial run should be performed. Stand next to the machine and ensure that there is nobody else in the working area.

If the grinding disk is wobbling or shows otherwise incorrect movement, promptly switch the unit off and unplug it from the power supply before working on the grinding disk.

The unit also has a zero voltage circuit breaker, which will be disabled in the event of a power outage, avoiding the danger of having the unit start up automatically upon the power supply being restored.
